

National Survey of Student Engagement Executive Snapshot 2007

University of West Georgia

Dear Colleague:

This is a summary of some key findings from your institution's performance on the 2007 National Survey of Student Engagement. We hope you can use this information to stimulate discussion on your campus about how to improve the quality of the undergraduate experience at University of West Georgia.

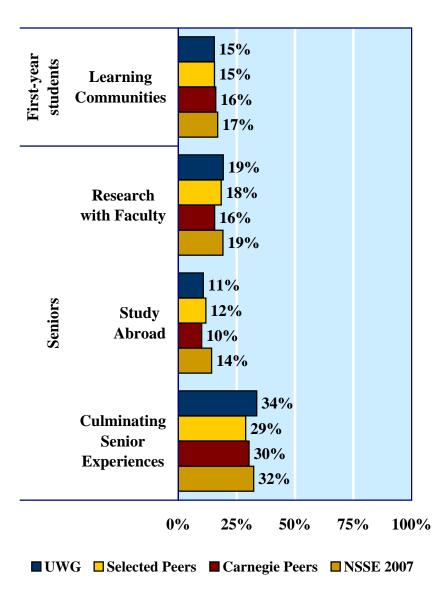

Sincerely, George D. Kuh Chancellor's Professor and Director

Percent of Students Who Participated in High-Impact Educational Practices at University of West Georgia and Selected Peer Institutions

A common question from NSSE users is, "What is the one thing we should do to increase student engagement and success on our campus?" Our answer: Make it possible for every student to participate in at least two high impact activities, one in the first year, and one later related to their major field.

High-impact activities place students in circumstances that essentially demand they interact with faculty and peers about substantive matters. Left to their own devices, many students and faculty members may not do these things. Educationally effective institutions recognize this and create incentives to induce purposeful behavior towards these ends.

Research suggests that promising options for new students are first-year seminars, learning communities, and service learning. In the later years of college, research with faculty, study abroad, internships, and a culminating senior experience serve this purpose. The adjacent figure shows the percent of your students who had some of these experiences compared to students at institutions in your selected peer groups.

Note: The institutions in each of your selected peer groups, as well as the criteria used to define these groups is provided in your NSSE 2007 Selected Peer Groups report.

Asked questions/contributed to class discussions<sup>2</sup>

Discussed ideas from classes with faculty outside of class<sup>2</sup>

Received prompt written or oral feedback from faculty<sup>2</sup>

Made a class presentation<sup>2</sup>

NSSE 2007 Question Comparisons

Highest Performing Areas

By examining individual questions, you can better understand what contributes to your institution's overall performance. The following two sections feature the five questions where your first-year and senior students scored the highest and the five questions where they scored the lowest, in relation to students at your first selected peer/consortium group.

While these questions were chosen to represent the largest percentage differences (in actual percentage points), they may not be the most important to your institutional mission or current program or policy goals. We encourage you to review your NSSE 2007 Institutional Report for additional results of specific interest to your campus.

Notes

Respondent Characteristics

The adjacent table displays your number of respondents, response rates, and sampling errors. Sampling error (ideally below 5%) is an estimate of the margin by which the true percentage of your students on a given item differs from the reported percentage because not all of your students were surveyed.

		Resp.	Sampling
_	N	Rate	Error
First-Year Students	498	21%	+/-4%
Seniors	346	22%	+/-4.7%

&lt;sup>2</sup> Combination of students responding 'very often' or 'often'

Benchmarks of Effective Educational Practice

To represent the multi-dimensional nature of student engagement, NSSE developed five indicators of effective educational practice. These "benchmarks" are created from clusters of NSSE questions that best represent these practices.

The table below summarizes key benchmark results for your institution and institutions in your selected peer groups. The '+' symbol indicates that your institution's score is statistically higher than the respective comparison group (p<.05), the '-' symbol indicates a score statistically lower than the comparison group, and a blank space indicates no significant difference. For detailed results, review your NSSE07 Benchmark Comparisons report.
