COURSE INFORMATION

Course Description

“For the monster is not in my face, but in my soul.”

--Caliban (Frankenstein’s Monster) from Penny Dreadful

This is a composition course focusing on skills required for both effective writing for various rhetorical situations and critical reading of texts. Students must demonstrate competency in argumentation and strengthen writing through the use of multiple textual sources.

English 1101 and 1102 courses are often challenging for students because of the rigorous nature of the courses.

We read regularly—but we write constantly. The only way to improve your writing is to write. During the semester, you will learn to identify and analyze text-based arguments, developing your own interpretive positions while training to clearly and effectively express yourself in writing. Although this may sound intimidating, rest assured that we will work together throughout the semester, breaking down the process into achievable steps. Please keep in mind that I am dedicated to assisting you throughout the learning process and supporting your transition from high school to college (and beyond).

Our course theme focuses on intersectionality. Hopefully, while we work on writing, you will explore some interesting concepts about how we define ourselves, internal and external biases, and the many problems with social expectations and definitions.

GRADING INFORMATION & POLICY

Grading structure and point scale:

90% - 100%	A
80% - 89%	B
70% - 79%	C
60% - 69%	D
< 60%	F
Not submitted	0

You must earn a letter grade of C or better in order to complete English 1101. All essays must be completed in order to pass this course.

Please see the Common Language for Course Syllabi for official information on UWG's Academic Integrity Policy. Note that I will enforce this policy. In addition, allow me to share my standard statement on plagiarism:

The Department of English and Philosophy defines plagiarism as taking personal credit for the words and ideas of others as they are presented in electronic, print, and verbal sources. The Department expects that students will accurately credit sources in all assignments. An equally dishonest practice is fabricating sources or facts; it is another form of misrepresenting the truth. Plagiarism is grounds for failing the course. Not sure about something? ASK ME!

If an idea does not come fully-sprung from your own skull, you need to figure out whose idea it is and give them credit through citation. If you cheat in my class, you will receive an automatic F for the class. Do not test this.

COMMUNICATION RULES

Communication Rules:

I encourage you to visit me during my office hours. Please feel free to come by to ask questions about the readings or to discuss any element of your writing and research at any stage of the process. See me the same day you begin to have a question or concern. Please do not wait until the day before an assignment is due to seek assistance—give yourself time to think and write, and ask questions early and often.

I prefer that you send me your questions via UWG email. I will return all emails in 36 hours during the week and within 48 hours over the weekends.

Special Note:

The Board of Regents, the governing body for the University System of Georgia, recently passed new rules regarding sexual misconduct and its reporting. (It's called BOR 4.1.7 Sexual Misconduct Policy, link here.) As of July 1, 2016, all faculty and staff must promptly and fully report complaints of or information regarding sexual misconduct to the Title IX Coordinator on campus. Here is the UWG Title IX website.

What this means is that I cannot guarantee confidentiality if you come to me and tell me about an instance of sexual misconduct. I must report. However, the following locations and individuals can offer confidential support, and I strongly encourage you to talk to them. I can help you contact these places, too.

(This one is not confidential, but you should have it) UNIVERSITY POLICE 678-839-6000 (96000 on campus)

EXPECTATIONS OF STUDENTS

Course Structure: Ultimately, your success depends on how much time, energy, and effort you are willing to put into the class. I am only in control over one hundred percent of my own effort, but I promise you will always receive my full effort. I hope to see the same level of dedication in you. I want to help you make the grade you desire; I promise that you will receive the grade you earn.

Attendance: Regular participation in this class is vital to its success. You are expected to attend every class session regularly. What we cover in class is what you need to know. If you are absent, it is your responsibility to contact another student for an explanation of what was covered. I offer you 4 absences to do with as you like—use them wisely for the inevitable "stuff" that will mess up your semester: illness, traffic, death in the family, etc. If you miss 5 classes for whatever reason, you will not pass this class. Two late arrivals count as one absence, and leaving early applies in the same manner. No distinction exists between excused and unexcused absences, and assignments are still due on the day assigned.

Disruptive Behavior and Electronic Devices: Students will be dismissed from any class meeting at which they exhibit behavior that disrupts the learning environment of others. Such behavior includes—but is not limited to—arriving late for class, allowing cell phones to ring, speaking disrespectfully to the instructor and/or to other students, checking email or surfing the web, and using personal audio or video devices. Electronics may be used for class-related work only; use for other purposes will result in your dismissal from class. Each dismissal of this kind will count as an absence and will be applied toward the attendance policy.

Sleeping—for a minute or an hour—counts as an absence. For the sake of transparency, my biggest pet peeves are off-task electronic usage (multitasking is a myth) and class disruption (we have to feel safe in our discussions).

Late work policy: Assignments are accepted late with a 10% penalty per day late, and submission opportunities are closed after five days. I strongly recommend that students make an electronic copy of everything submitted to me through Turnitin.

Other: For the Americans with Disabilities Act, UWG Email, Credit Hour, and UWG Honor Code policies as well as information on Academic Tutoring, Student Services, and Technical Requirements, Privacy Policy, and Accessibility Statements, please see the Common Language for Syllabus document.
